Know your poker hands.

Strongest to weakest. Find the best five cards, then compare.

01 Royal flush

The ace-high straight flush. Nothing beats it in standard high poker.

02 Straight flush

Five consecutive cards of one suit. Compare the highest card.

03 Four of a kind

Four cards of one rank, plus a kicker.

04 Full house

Three of a kind plus a pair. Compare the trips first.

05 Flush

Five cards of one suit. Compare cards from highest to lowest.

06 Straight

Five consecutive ranks. An ace can be high or low.

07 Three of a kind

Three equal ranks, plus two kickers.

08 Two pair

Two pairs of different ranks, plus a kicker.

09 One pair

One pair and three kickers.

10 High card

No pair, straight or flush. Compare all five cards in order.

Standard 52-card high-hand rules. Only the best five cards count.

Suits do not break standard Hold'em ties. Compare ranks and relevant kickers.

A-2-3-4-5 is a five-high straight. An ace cannot wrap around the ranks.

Short deck, lowball and casino variants may use different rules. Confirm the game first.
